Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

The dissension in the ranks of the Republicans in Congress caused by Wendell Willkie's support of the President's foreign policy, is just another instance of obstructive petty politics in what is perhaps the greatest emergency this country has faced in its history. We say "the President's foreign policy," though whether it may be called that any longer is questionable. For some time it seems to have been the people's foreign policy. We think Willkie without intending to be spectacular has proved himself a loyal citizen above partisanship. It would please the great majority of Americans if the smaller Republican fry would emulate his example. Joe Martin probably will retain the Republican National Committee chairmanship, and that, at least, will do something toward healing the ugly breach in the party so far as concerns members in Congress. Outside of Congress we doubt if there is any real breach.

But let's not overlook the fact that while Willkie does support the lend-lease bill, he also asks for such modification as to prevent giving the President any more power than necessary to give its purpose effect. While it is important to give the Executive sufficient authority, it is equally important to remember that the same man once asked Congress for authority to pack the Supreme Court. The fact that in the natural course of events the President has had his way with the court does not alter the need for limitations on the proposed grant of power now. New Dealers have been named to the Supreme Court, but only as the law provides and without distortion of the Constitution. But any President might have done likewise. A Republican jealous of all so-called "vested rights" might readily have named a bench full of ultra conservatives. Vicissitudes of this kind are characteristic of our republic.

It might be urged that the House amendment providing that a majority of Congress may at any time revoke the powers granted the President in the lend-lease bill, might be a sufficient safeguard. We doubt it. A President that would actively campaign to defeat members of his own party in Congress, whose opposition aroused his enmity, might easily feel free to crack the patronage whip over sundry key figures in Congress who sought to recall powers granted in the lend-lease bill. In brief Mr. Roosevelt has demonstrated too often his resentment of limitations, Constitution-or otherwise, in the exercise of power.

There are two unknown factors which make it difficult to properly circumscribe the Executive's power in the lend-lease bill. (1) No one can predict the course of the war in Europe or Asia nor the exigencies that may arise. (2) No one can predict what the President may do with the power granted him. When it is necessary for Congress to grant supreme authority we would prefer that it grant to a triumvirate rather than to one man. For instance in the case of the lend-lease bill, is it not in the province of the Congress to choose a committee of three to exercise the powers thereunder? We think of one that would permit a great many Americans to sleep better of nights. Such a committee for instance as the President, Knudson and Hull. Three good heads are better than one good head. With such a committee named to carry out the provisions of the lend-lease bill no one could raise the cry of "dictator" and we feel that it would go a long way toward establishing that unity, which the President and all patriotic citizens ardently desire.

One control there is upon the President's power which may influence him to act with caution. That is his great desire to go down in history as one of the

Witness In Noted Mail Robbery Case, "Dead For Many Years", Found To Be Alive In This City

Warren Brown of this city is dead as far as the federal government is concerned, even though Brown is alive to dispute the claim.

Brown was to have been the government's witness in the prosecution of Floyd Hall, one of Northern California's most notorious criminals, on a mail robbery charge.

But last week in Sacramento federal court Emmet Seawell, assistant United States attorney, asked for dismissal of the charge because the prosecution's only witness, Warren Brown of Nevada City, "has been dead for many years." After he was informed Brown is still living, Seawell said:

"The official files of the case include a letter from G. H Austin, federal post office inspector, who investigated the case, which states Brown died some time ago. That is the only information I have on Brown.

Not To Reopen Case

"Regardless of the witnesses' status, however, the government is not interested in pressing the charge and even had Brown been present in court the request for a dismissal would have been made. The government feels the life sentence Hall is serving on a murder charge is adequate."

Brown was driving the stage to North Bloomfield when Hall and his partner in crime, Joe Tanko, held him up and took the truck. Hall was later captured and tried in Sacramento County on a murder charge, receiving a life imprisonment. It was believed if he was ever released he would be tried on the mail robbery count with Brown as the prosecution witness.

Tanko was killed in a gun battle with officers in San Francisco.

CHAMBER WILL TONIGHT ADOPT CONSTITUTION

The Nevada City Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular meeting, Monday evening, February 24th, at 7:30, at the Shamrock Cafe.

This meeting will be one of the most important held by the Chamber for many years, and a full attendance is imperative, Secretary Sofge says, for the following reasons:

New Constitution and By-Laws

1 A new departure in the transaction of business by the chamber is proposed. This is an entirely new program governing the activities of the organization, and for this reason alone all members should be present to pass upon it.

2 On the other hand you may not agree with the program in its entirety, therefore you should attend and suggest any changes you may deem necessary, so that the program as adopted will reflect the views of all the members.

3 The committee that drew up the new constitution and by-laws realize that they need the wise counsel of the members in whipping it into shape for, when all is said, they have the last say as to what goes into the document.

The new constitution clearly defines (a) The purpose and aims of the Chamber of Commerce. (b) Prescribes the procedure to be followed in the election of the officers and directors. (c) Provides for standing committees and their duties. (d) Provides a definite date for monthly meetings, and the procedure to be followed in conducting said meetings.

The fact that you pay your dues regularly indicates you have the success of the chamber at heart, and that you are aware how essential it is to the best interests of Nevada City. It has never needed your counsel and advice more than at the present time when it is embarking upon a new, and we feel sure, a more successful program.

Do You Dunk?

Coffee and doughnuts will be served free at the end of the meeting.

Jewish Evangelist To Hold Services Here

H. B. Pencovic, Jewish evangelist, will hold services nightly at the Bethany Church, 419 Spring Street, during this week except for tonight.

Pencovic, a graduate of Southern California Bible College, has conducted extensive evangelistic campaigns throughout the United States during the past nine years. He has held several pastorates in the middle west.

Death of Chinese Believed Accidental

Deputy Coroner Laity of Truckee, who investigated the death of Lee Wong, 25, Sheepranch Chinese, whose body was found beneath the Southern Pacific Railroad trestle at Mystic, Nevada County, said he believes the death was accidental.

Laity was assisted in the investigation by railroad officers. At first it was believed Wong, who was enroute to Idaho, had been a victim of foul play.

Rev. H. Thomas Pateman Will Be Host To Visitors

"We know you will be happy to receive this convention," Rev. H. Thomas Pateman, pastor of the local historic Trinity Church, said today in announcing plans have started for the event.

For the convention, Rev. Pateman said the completion of the painting of the Trinity Church is necessary.

"The convention is an honor seldom bestowed upon any city," Rev. Pateman stated. "I hope you will help us to prepare for this convention by contributing toward the completion of painting the church. The front is painted but the sides remain to be painted."

The convention will open on Tuesday, April 22nd. Registration will be at 3:30, followed by a business session and a banquet at the National Hotel.

The Nevada City Chamber of Commerce will have welcoming banners placed about the business district in honor of the visitors.

Public Service

A public church service will be held from 9:30 until 11 a. m. on Wednesday, April 23rd. Bishop Remington of Oregon will be the speaker. Rev. Rex A. Barron of Sacramento, retired businessman, and at one time commissioner of education in Canada, who in late years has given his time freely to the ministry, will be inducted as archdeacon of the Sacramento diocese at the 9:30 services.

The ladies of the Trinity Parish are having the interior of the church painted and properly decorated for the convention.

The Episcopal convention is an annual event. It is the first time Nevada County has been honored by the holding of the gathering here. The business sessions during the two day event will be held in the Trinity Church. Rev. Pateman will be host to the visitors.

Injured Youth Leaves Hospital For Home Here

Clyde Cook, 13, elementary school student, injured Saturday afternoon when he fell under a moving truck while attempting to board it was able to leave the county hospital for his home today.

Ellard Gates, operator of the truck, reported to Officer Lynn Davies, who investigated the accident, that he had slowed his truck to five miles an hour and was preparing to stop to let Cook into the vehicle when the boy jumped and instead of landing on the running board safely, slipped and fell beneath the car. One of the rear wheels ran over his body.

Gates carried Cook into the home of Kittie Kimball, who rendered first aid until the arrival of Dr. Bernard Hummelt. The Holmes ambulance later took him to the county hospital.

The officers report the accident was unavoidable.

JURY TRIAL OPENS THURS.

The $15,000 damage suit of Frank Anderson against Ernest Kirkle and the Beckley Trucking Company will be tried before a jury in the superior court here Thursday. Superior Judge George L. Jones will preside.

Anderson asks the $15,000 for injuries he alleges he sustained near Soda Springs July 30, 1940 in an automobile accident due to the carelessness of the defendant, Kirkle.

Franklin Tuttle, son of Judge and Mrs. Raglan Tuttle of Sacramento, was a Nevada City visitor Friday.

Ruling Paves Way For Truckee Vote On Incorporation

Residents of Truckee will vote on a proposal to incorporate as a result of a ruling by Superior Judge George L. Jones.

Judge Jones granted C. B. White and 61 other Truckee residents, who signed a petition for an election on the proposal, a writ of mandate against County Clerk R. N. McCormack to certify the petition to the board of supervisors as correct.

The county clerk had refused to certify the petition, maintaining the boundaries as set forth in the petition did not close and therefore did not comply with the statutes.

The writ granted by Judge Jones paved the way for the setting of a date for the election by the board of supervisors.

Police Department Painted—

Under the supervision of Chief of Police Max Solaro, the interior of the police department in the city hall was painted blue by a city prisoner. The jail block was also painted.

LOCAL YOUTH INJURED IN AUTO MISHAP

Two Others Hurt When Car Leaves Road, Hits Tree

Robert Butler, employed at the Williamson Service Garage here, was one of three youths injured early Sunday morning when an automobile left the Colfax Highway near the Empire Mine Road and struck a tree.

Butler and Ray Dowd, who was the operator of the car, are in the Jones Memorial Hospital in Grass Valley. Ralph Hunt, the third youth was able to leave for his home after emergency treatment.

The automobile plunged about 40 feet down the bank. Hunt crawled to the highway and signalled a passing motorist for aid.

Butler was scheduled to leave with Company E, 115th Engineers, California National Guard, for a year's military training at San Luis Obipo in March. It is probable his injuries will prevent him from leaving on the scheduled date.

SPEND DAY IN SNOW

Hitler's Molars

Historians have long since disclosed that the real reason George Washington looked so grim and uncompromising was that his dental plates fitted badly and gave him more trouble than all the "red coats" sent over to plague his armies. As a consequence, all the pictures of the Father of His Country show him with jaws clamped together like he was just about to cross the Delaware under heavy shell-fire, whereas actually—if the historians are to be believed—he was simply sore as hell about the condition of his dentures.

The centuries roll on. And now comes an item over the cables to the effect that Hitler seldom goes to the dentist, for fear of being hurt. What's more, Herr Hitler's teeth are said to have more cavities than the Kentucky Caverns—and there's more poison pouring into his system than he can get out in a dozen two-hour broadcasts. The result: unprecedented malevolence and violence!

Perhaps that's one of the (many) differences between the two men. George Washington braved the dentist's chair, even when the village blacksmith handled the drill. He got the poison out of his system, even though he got an awful mouthfull of cast-iron molars in exchange. But Hitler, the old sourpuss, won't go to the dentist. He'd prefer to lose a million men in the English channel!—Contributed.

Home Building Booms

In many sections where national defense industries have boosted payrolls and brought sharp jumps in population, housing shortages have developed during recent weeks which are reminiscent of conditions that came in the wake of World War No. 1. Throughout California home building is spurting ahead and there are preliminary rumblings that rentals may start to climb with the first days of summer.

The full impact of the defense program has not been felt as yet in California, however, and realty experts report that spring home buyers will be able to get values which may not be duplicated again for years to come. This condition they assert, is due partly to the fact that prices of home building sites still range from 20 to 30 per cent below the levels prevailing in the 1920's, and to the added fact that building material costs, while on the way up, haven't skyrocketed yet as they doubtless will later under pressure of war conditions abroad and the national defense program at home.

Both locally and throughout the country a home building boom appears to be in the offing, with the probability that costs will rise sharply before the end of the year. The moral seems to be: If you're in the market for a new home, don't delay; buy it now!—Contributed.

WINNING THE WEST

The recently completed debris dams in our northern counties and beautiful lakes formed by the impounded flow of the American and Yuba rivers, prove conclusively that each succeeding generation has a highly important, specialized and spectacular part to play in that amazing and never ending drama, The Winning of the West.

The tall trees talked in the twilight—
Cedar and pine and fir,
Each one expressed an opinion
And ther wasn't a single demur,
For down in the vale below them,
With the evening star on its breast,
Was a lake that no one had dreamed of
When the giants were winning the west.

Said the pine, "men have wrought this marvel—
Where the rivers rush down to the sea,
They have builded a mighty barrier
To hold back the hated debris,
And soon they will come to the mountains,
As their fathers did of old,
To open the long locked channels
And bring forth the hidden gold."

Said the cedar, "When I was a sapling,
The noise of the mines was stilled
And only the forest voices
The canyons and gulches thrilled;
But a dream was born in those moments
Of disappointment and pain,
And all through the years Hope whispered,
'Good times will come back again'."

The tall trees talked in the twilight—
Of the past and the present too,
Of a future bright with promise
And of old trails blazed anew;
Of a lake in the vale below them
With the evening star on its breast
And of strong men, eager and willing,
Who today are winning the west.

WINTER LOGGING GOES FORWARD AT CAMPTONVILLE

For the first time in local history, according to District Ranger Frank Meggers of the Camptonville ranger district, Tahoe national forest, logging and saw milling is being carried on in the winter time. Logging at an elevation of 3400 feet is an event, since ordinarily there is three to four feet of snow covering the whole area this time of the year.

Lumbering materials are being furnished and hauled by the A. J. Heether Lumber Company to the Dutch Flat tunnel project, which is also able to continue work this winter.

While the ground is somewhat soft, the logging is being done on the ridges, with cat equipped with winch. The hauling is done with trucks equipped with dual pneumatic tires. Improvement in equipment makes this winter work possible.

The cutting consisting mostly of ponderosa pine and Douglas fir, is being done on government ground. Marking of trees, scaling and supervision of woods work are all done under government regulations.

The lack of snow at this elevation is perhaps due, or at least influenced by the Japanese current which has caused the coast waters to be nine degrees warmer than usual. Vegetation has developed about six weeks ahead of normal. Pussy willows, manzanita in bloom, sponge mushroom and water cress have been with us for some time. So far we have seen only one robin, but all signs spring must be "just around the corner."

Upon Transportation's Broad Shoulders Rides A Big Share of the Nation's Defense

1918—An American inventor offered the government a peculiarly designed plane declared capable of carrying 22 persons . . . week-old, hazy photos of Europe's activities heralded as "first release" . . . United States railroads moved an average of a little more than 20,000 men a day in the troop maneuvers.

1941—Huge carriers of the skyways thunder overhead with easy burdens of 100 men . . . Winston Churchill on a London inspection tour appears on America's front page a few hours later . . . Railroads move Army men throughout the nation at the rate of 40,000 per day!

Time has quickened in the passing of a score of years and transportation has quickened with it.

The Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad Company's role of cooperative service during '17-'18 not only included transportation of service men on the first leg of their training camp journey but served as reliant carrier of incoming supplies for maintenance of home industries and expert carrier of our products.

Today the Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad Company stands ready to render a still more complete, faster, and farther reaching service through the uniformity of its most modern equipment—motorized freight carriers adapted to "round-the-clock" schedules and passenger units of latest, highway-travel design, rich in comfort and paramount in safety. Truly America's accredited transportation lines are her first lines of defense. We are proud to be a part of it!

great American Presidents. Any misuse of the power which Congress is soon to grant him will diminish that historic stature he envisions. Whether this self-restraining factor will be sufficient, whether he will rise above party considerations, whether he will put brakes upon a nature overgiven to impulsive action, we shall presently learn.

On the whole we had rather that the President should have too much rather than too little power to deal with a world flaming with war. But we are not too sanguine of the future which 130 million people places in his hands. We point to just one thing which may defeat us all, i. e. the enormous debt which oppresses not only the rich but the multitude of poor. The debt limit soon will be 65 billions of dollars. That is equivalent to the annual national income of a few years ago. It may easily reach 100 billions before the present world storm stills. We enter upon a boom to make huge supplies of war materials that are worth nothing when peace comes. And when peace comes we shall have a great number of reforms, social and economic, still undigested and unpaid for, and on top of that a military and naval establishment costing billions; which may preserve us, but which can add not one penny to the national income or wealth.

Many Skiers Visit Snow Fields for Sport

Hundreds of skiers passed through Nevada City during the weekend attracted by excellent snow conditions in the higher altitudes above here. Many of the visitors stayed Saturday night in Nevada City returning to the snow fields yesterday, and from there to their homes in the valley and the bay region.

The Nevada City ski course at Omega hill received much use yesterday. Superintendent H. T. Bigelow of the State Division of Highways last night stated that there were 2 feet of snow there. A new ski tow has been erected by J. Hilliard of this city.

N. C. TO CLOSE HOOP SEASON THIS WEEK

A disastrous hoop season will come to a close for the Nevada City Yellowjackets this week. Tomorrow night the 'Jackets will travel to Roseville and Friday will tangle with the Placer Union High School fives on the local gymnasium.

The Yellowjackets had hoped to break into the Sierra Foothill League standings win column Friday night in the Grass Valley games but the Miners were too tough.

A large crowd saw the locals go down to defeat in the B game by a score of 32 to 24 and in the A game by a 36 to 25 count. The contests were played on the local floor.

Verlod made nine tallies for the victors in the A battle. Spracklen, Thomas and Davies each made five points for the Yellowjackets.

Gregory and Henwood were the high point men for Nevada City in the B game. Chew tallied 14 points for the Miners.

'VICTORY' DRAMA FROM CONRAD TO OPEN THURS.

Just as Joseph Conrad remained steadfast in his determination to retain the original title of his epic novel "Victory," so, many years later, did Paramount Producer Anthony Veiller insist upon not changing the title when he made the screen vesion of the famous Conrad story. Starring Frederic March and Betty Field, the picture opens Thursday at the Nevada Theatre.

Polish-born, a seaman who touched practically every port on the seven seas, Conrad began writing late in life, and became a master of English prose. "Victory" is possibly the best known of all his works. It is known as a classic of character and scene description, and intensely powerful story of love and adventure in the South Seas.
